The Migrant Leaders Development Programme

Migrant Leaders, a charity that supports young migrants to develop skills and capture opportunities, is running a free professional development programme for 1st and 2nd generation migrants (as well as young people from other disadvantaged backgrounds).

Successful candidates will be invited to workshops, work experience, and mentoring from leaders in companies like Meta, Kantar, and KPMG.

Reach for the stars with Migrant Leaders

Life in a new country can be tough, even as a second-generation migrant, for several reasons including the likelihood that your family may lack the professional networks that can help you progress in your career. Not having knowledge of career options and routes into them can make it difficult to know how to break into the profession that you want. This can also be true for non-migrants from disadvantaged backgrounds. However, Migrant Leaders aims to help talented young people like you reach the very top of the corporate world in Britain through its Development Programme. You will be able to unlock workplace opportunities, make valuable connections, build your capability and achieve everything you deserve in life.

How does it do this?

There are three main branches of our programme for candidates who are accepted after convincing us they have the will to succeed:

- Structured online learning modules, optional conferences and workshops which prepare you for the challenges ahead
- Being paired with skilled senior mentors from top organisations who will provide you with valuable advice as you move from school to further education to employment
- Obtaining quality work experience opportunities in leading firms as a result of Migrant Leaders' valuable network of connections

Please note that to be able to apply you must be 16-25 years old, currently or previously in state education, and either you or at least one of your parents must have migrated to the UK or as a non-migrant you must be from a disadvantaged background* of any ethnicity.

Virtual Employer Encounters Webinars for Students Careers in Prop and Set Design

Thursday 5th October 2023 (4:30pm)

Careers in Prop and Set Design

Hertfordshire's Film, TV and Creative sector is booming and is set to have more stages than Hollywood before the end of this decade! Prop and Set designers play a vital part in the creation of theatre, stage, tv shows and movies and so it is a great time to be considering this industry for a future career.

In this webinar you will meet a Prop storeman, an assistant art director and a head of faculty from University of Hertfordshire's Creative school. They will be able to share their own experiences to tell you what they do on a day-to-day basis and help you identify the best route into industry.

Meet your panellists...

Quentin Davies:

I have been working in Film and TV for over 25 years now. The props dept looks after 3 aspects of the film. We "dress" and "strike" the sets, we also deal with all the artists "hand props" – like Harry Potter's wand for example, and finally the actual shooting of a scene – we call this standing by (as we actually have to stand by the camera).

Aaron Kostick:

Assistant Art Director/Junior Draughtsperson for Film and TV. Based in North London (near Elstree Studios). I specialise in draughting, conceptual art, model making and graphic props. I have worked on a wide range of Feature Films from Paramounts 'Mission Impossible Dead Reckoning - Part 1' to Prime Videos fun Christmas film franchise 'Your Christmas or mine?'.

Stephen Sheffield:

Stephen Sheffield has been teaching on various 3D design and making courses for the last 10 years and in Hertfordshire for the last 2. His background is as a modelmaker primarily for film & TV but also for the museum's & heritage sector. He has also taught in the field of Product Design but is most at home in a machine workshop where the really creative stuff is happening.

UEA Subject Taster Lectures Yr12. & Yr.13

insight4me Psychology – Psychopathology

October 2nd

insight4me is a series of subject specific webinars for Year 12 & 13 students. The sessions directly support students' current studies by giving an insight into particular curriculum areas whilst affording an understanding of how these subjects continue beyond A-levels

University of East Anglia: Dr Jo Bower, Lecturer in Psychology, School of Psychology will present Sleep on it and feel better in the morning? The influence of sleep on our mental health. Have you ever wondered why things are harder to cope with if you've had a bad night's sleep? In this talk, we will consider how sleep changes our emotional responding, and look at how this may be important for the relationship between sleep and mental health.

Goldsmiths, University of London: Dr Lucy Oldfield, Senior Lecturer in Clinical Psychology, Department of Psychology will discuss Behavioural Experiments which are an important tool in Cognitive Behaviour Therapy (CBT) (but also in other modalities) and have an evidence base showing they are the most effective part of treatment for OCD, other anxiety disorders and for working with depression.

insight4me Geography – Global Commons

October 9th

University of Glasgow: Prof Chris Philo, Professor in the School of Geographical and Earth Sciences, will present Tragedies of the Commons. This talk introduces 'the commons' as meaning a complex bundle of resources, like air, water, land, etc. that people can supposedly access freely 'in common' with each other. We will ask about the historical roots of the commons, and of threats to it, in both the British countryside and British colonies. We will consider what is sometimes called 'the tragedy of the commons' – an idea with a curious double meaning – particularly emphasising what happens when different peoples in different places start to be denied access to common resources.

Biology: University Interactive Talk on Understanding & Tackling Cancer

Thursday 19th October

In this Biology session, Dr Helen James, will run an interactive talk for students on Understanding & Tackling Cancer – What the Latest Research Tells Us.

This interactive talk will cover the key molecular and cellular biology of cancer. We will discuss how the latest research is changing our understanding of the disease and how our increased knowledge is suggesting ways in which cancer may be diagnosed earlier and hopefully treated more successfully.

Some of the changes to genes involved in cell proliferation (mitosis), cell death (apoptosis), and the spread of tumours around the body (metastasis) will be discussed.

Police Cadets

Calling all young people of Broxbourne! Are you looking for a new challenge or volunteering opportunity? If so, joining the Volunteer Police Cadet scheme could be the perfect option! The programme is open to anyone aged between 13 and 18 who lives or goes to school in Hertfordshire.

As well as learning about police procedures and the law, cadets also play a vital role in community events, engaging with members of the public and educating them on crime prevention. During their sessions, which are usually held once every two weeks, cadets receive talks and demonstrations from serving police officers and get inputs from other emergency services.

Specialist departments such as the Bedfordshire, Cambridgeshire and Hertfordshire (BCH) Armed Policing Unit and Dog Unit also give regular talks. There is also the opportunity to take part in a range of social and exciting outdoor activities such as white-water rafting, weekend holidays and summer camps, court visits and foot patrols at local music festivals.

You don't need to have an aspiration to work in the police, just an appetite to try something new! Our group are friendly and welcoming, and we'd like to encourage other young people to join us.

It's also a fantastic asset to have on your CV or university application. To apply, please visit their website at <https://orlo.uk/DY5K3> or email RCountyCadets@herts.police.uk.
